

What is sociology?

Sociology is the study of society and life. GCSE sociology helps students to gain knowledge and understanding of key social structures, processes and issues through the study of families, education, crime and deviance and social stratification.

What can I expect from the course?

The course content for this subject is as follows:

Year 1	Year 2
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The sociological approach - Sociological research methods - Families - Education 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Crime and deviance - Social stratification

Students will develop their analytical, assimilation and communication skills by comparing and contrasting perspectives on a variety of social issues, constructing reasoned arguments, making substantiated judgements and drawing reasoned conclusions.

Sociology is a popular subject, however, the current educational challenges set by COVID-19 means that students need to be prepared for a new way of learning. The department provides an excellent bank of resources along with a range of effective teaching strategies that refine, stretch, and challenge our students' metacognitive abilities.

By studying sociology, students will develop transferable skills including how to:

- Investigate facts and make deductions;
- Develop opinions and new ideas on social issues;
- Analyse and better understand the social world.

Assessment

You will be assessed through two exams at the end of the two-year course.

Paper 1: The sociology of families and education	Paper 2: The sociology of crime and deviance and social stratification
